

For Immediate Release:

Bronx, NY – February 28, 2018 – FONYE (Flying Over New York Entertainment) Network to launch a new, interactive media platform and officially announce their new Brand Ambassador: Bronx native, recording artist, actress and model, LeRuz La Rose, as the official face of FONYE Network.

On March 5, FONYE Network - "The Get-Work Network" will be launching an exciting, interactive media platform, which will include an upgrade of their current FONYE Radio stations on the Web, Android, Roku and other platforms. Their new slogan describes an innovative way to connect entertainers and promoters, with venues, clients and fans, by eliminating costly middlemen. The upgrade will expand their currently successful three digital radio stations to include a Social Network (FONYE Lounge), an artist booking section, and a digital streaming platform.

FONYE History:

FONYE Network began with a concept from Adam Smith, Sr. aka, DJ Cool A.D. that dates back to 1996, when the FONYE DJs (Flying Over New York Entertainment Disc Jockey Service) went "cyber" and combined with an Internet radio station. This led to the official launching of FONYE Radio, in 1999. FONYE Radio was the first independently-owned Internet radio station to offer an alternative to traditional (terrestrial) broadcast radio, by streaming across the Internet, to various wireless devices, 24 hours a day. This created a global listening audience and allowed Radio Hosts and Disc Jockeys (DJs) to deliver shows to and from anywhere in the world.

FONYE Network continues to seek qualified and experienced vendors: entertainers, radio shows, venues, and venue support staff.
